Puyallup Tribe of Indians statement on protest at the Northwest Detention Center

Tacoma, Wash. – Contrary to reports, the Puyallup Tribe of Indians did not ask the immigration policy protestors to leave their camp outside the Northwest Detention Center on Thursday, June 28. The Tribe does not support the location of the Northwest Detention Center in the Port of Tacoma and we also strongly oppose the for-profit corporation, The Geo Group, for profiting from the separation of immigrant families. The Puyallup Tribal Council calls on our federal leaders to pass thoughtful immigration reform and immediately stop the human injustices that we're witnessing across the county.
